MAKES POSITION CLEAR AND CALLS A SPADE A SPADE.

Has Long Been One Of The Trusted And Popular Leaders Of His Party In The County. Issues Statement Making His Position Plain Upon The Temperance Issue And Shows Up The Political Tactics And Plans Of Some Folks Who Are Trying To Disrupt The Party In Kentucky.

To the voters of Garrard County:

Some who are opposing my candidacy for the Legislature have circulated reports in some portions of the county in which I am not well acquainted with the people, reflecting upon my sincerity as a temperance democrat.

I am, always have been and shall continue to be, a democrat and a prohibitionist. I see no reason why a man can not be both, just as consistently as a democrat and a Baptist or a Methodist.

I hope to represent Garrard County in the next General Assembly and if sent by my party to that honorable body, I shall immediately introduce a bill whereby the sense of the voters may be taken upon an amendment to the constitution of Kentucky providing for the absolute prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors, an amendment without any proviso or joker designed to keep the question alive in Kentucky politics after it has been settled and settled right by making Kentucky a bone-dry state. I shall oppose any provision by which people can get their jugs or quarts out of the state after the manufacture and sale has been prohibited in the state, and I shall never agree that the people's hard earned money shall be taken out of their pockets to compensate the loss which distillers or bar-keepers may sustain by their inability to longer make the stuff or to sell it. I shall next introduce a bill forbidding the shipping of alcoholic liquors from a wet county into a dry one in order that the counties which have voted dry may be dry even before the adoption of this amendment.

These bills will express the fixed conviction of a time. I have always been dry. I supported the Honorable J. C. W. Beckham most loyally when a candidate for the Senate, am his friend and admirer and felt a keen personal regret when he took the stump with Judge Ed. O'Rear.

In the event I am permitted to introduce these bills I shall not consult the Governor, Dr. Alexander or anybody else except the intelligent constituency I represent, as to what they shall contain or how they shall be drawn. If the people of this county can not find a man with intelligence or integrity enough to do their bidding, without having a delegation from adjoining counties come over here and start a political kindergarten for the benefit of the people who in times past have elected and not imported their representatives, then this county ought to save money by sending a legislative proxy to these gentlemen who come here from abroad to make states and to give secret instructions to candidates.

I deem it my duty to the party and to myself alike, to advise the democracy of Garrard County that there is now a well organized conspiracy designed to split the party, foment discord in the next General Assembly and defeat certain candidates not because they are wet or dry, but because they are loyal democrats. A short time ago Dr. A. J. A. Alexander accompanied by Senator W. A. Frost of Graves County and Rodman Keenon of Mercer, made an unostentatious journey to Garrard County and Rodman Keenon held quite a lengthy interview with me, and I understand I am not the only candidate who was thus approached. I quote his words as I recollect them: "After some preliminary remarks about my race he said to me: 'If you will line up with our friends to organize the next house and vote for our candidate for Speaker and help carry out our program we will get behind you. I understand it takes money to handle politics in this county, don't it? I could probably be of some assistance in this way to you through Dr. Alexander, who is head of the Democratic Forward League in Kentucky.'"

I assured Mr. Keenon in substance that when I got ready to betray the Democratic Party and a democratic organization for so many pieces of silver, I would call on him for the coin.

Dr. Alexander has always been regarded as an estimable citizen and a gentleman of high ideals. He claims he is not trying to undermine a democratic administration and I do not question his veracity or his motives. I would respectfully suggest however, that like old dog Tray, he is in, mightily bad company and if he don't look sharp his fat money bags will be put to purposes that don't smell good.

However poor I may be, I shall never betray the people in order to represent them, or agree in advance to wear the collar of an itinerant coterie of insurgents who propose to control candidates by secretly financing their campaigns.

I have never failed to support a democratic administration and I shall do all I can to see that this one is succeeded by democrats and that the state is saved from republican rule.

There are but two parties in Kentucky—the democratic party and the republican party. Whoever is not with the democratic organization is against it. A secret and seditious association whose admitted purpose is to obstruct and discredit a democratic governor is and can be nothing more or less than a republican Aid Society. I challenge its right to mask its sinister purpose behind the white and stinkless banners of temperance and prohibition. These gentlemen do infinitely more hurt to that cause than to the democratic party. I shall ask no aid except from the unpurchasable democracy of the good county of Garrard, and if elected, shall labor in season and out of season for the cause of temperance and of democracy.

ELIGIBLE LIST

For Draft On Display At Court House.

The local registration board have completed the entire registration list of Garrard county, numbering them serially from 1 to 992 and from these numbers the draft list will be made up. Everyone registered should examine this list and get his own number, so when the drawing takes place he can readily see if his number is drawn. The drawing will probably take place the last of this week or early next week.

Garrard county will be required to furnish 104 men for this new army to be raised by the selective draft. This fact was made known yesterday through the agency of the State Department authorities at Frankfort. Boyle county's quota is 91, while Lincoln county will have to furnish 127.

ALL PERSONS

Must Sign Affidavit Now To Get Liquor By Express.

Under a recent ruling of the Adams Express Company persons receiving shipments of intoxicating liquors at local option points in Kentucky must hereafter make an affidavit before a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public that they are of legal age; that the said liquor is for personal use, and is not to be used in violation of the laws of the State of Kentucky, and further that they do not hold a Federal license for the sale of liquors. In addition to the affidavit the person to whom the liquor is consigned must sign a record book provided and kept by the express company as required by law, which is open to inspection of city, county, and State officers. The regulation also prohibits the shipment of booze other than beer in pint or half-pint bottles. The agents are required to preserve the affidavits.

This ruling should make the enforcement of the local option laws some easier as bootleggers who sign such an affidavit and are afterward caught selling liquor may be prosecuted for perjury, which is a penitentiary offense.

EMERGENCY.

Lancaster Unit Woman's Council National Defense Organized Friday.

Miss Tommie Francis, Chairman.

In answer to an emergency call from the United States Government a Lancaster Unit of the Kentucky Branch of a National Council of Defense has been formed with Miss Tommie Francis as Chairman. The object of this is to gather all the women of the community, thru the churches and other organizations, and secure a register of all women willing to band together, ready for any crisis that may be brought about by the war. The first request from President Wilson is to supply Mr. Hoover, head of the food administration, a registered list of all Garrard county women willing to stand by the government in the matter of food conservation and to have their names in Washington at an early date.

It is proposed to enlist all women in a card promising to carry out instructions. And these instructions will not be onerous. The idea is not to limit the meal to a war ration, but to use intelligence. It is the staples that need to be conserved—staples like wheat, which may be sent abroad. Eat less white bread, for instance. It would be no hardship to make more use of cornmeal. Flour refined to a degree where much of its nutriment is driven out of it is not nearly as wholesome as corn. There are ways almost without number for utilizing meal, from the humble pone of the South to the delicious ruffin that many cooks can make and that all ought to learn how to make.

However, this is a divergence. As the movement grows, every woman will readily grasp the idea back of food conservation. It is to preserve the staples for shipment abroad—to feed the armies in the field in order that the war may be won. Eat green vegetables. Eat everything that is coming into the farmers' markets. Eat sufficiently, but do not waste anything. And by all means cut down on white bread and flour.

No better Chairman for this important branch of work could have been chosen than Miss Tommie Francis. She is not only capable and energetic but conscientious and patriotic and willing to do her bit in this way. Each organization and individual should help her in every way possible.

AN APPEAL TO FARMERS.

Fate of Nation Rests Largely on an Increased Food Supply.

President Wilson in his proclamation to the people appeals to farmers to do all in their power to increase the supply of food. He says:

I take the liberty, therefore, of addressing this word to the farmers of the country and to all who work on the farms: The supreme need of our own nation and of the nations with which we are co-operating is an abundance of supplies and especially of foodstuffs. The importance of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, is superlative. Without abundant food alike for the armies and the peoples now at war the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will break down and fall. The world's food reserves are low. Not only during the present emergency, but for some time after peace shall have come, both our own people and a large proportion of the people of Europe must rely upon the harvests in America.

Upon the farmers of this country, therefore, in large measure rest the fate of the war and the fate of the nations. May the nation not count upon them to omit no step that will increase the production of their land or that will bring about the most efficient co-operation in the sale and distribution of their products? The time is short. It is of the most imperative importance that everything possible be done, and done immediately, to make sure of large harvests. I call upon young men and old alike and upon the able-bodied boys of the land to accept not upon this duty—to turn in hosts to the farms and make certain that no plow and no labor is lacking in this great matter.

I particularly appeal to the farmers of the south to plant abundant foodstuffs as well as cotton. They can show their patriotism in no better or more convincing way than by resisting the great temptation of the present price of cotton and helping, helping upon a great scale, to feed the nation and the peoples everywhere who are fighting for their liberties and for our own. The variety of their crops will be the visible measure of their comprehension of their national duty.

The government of the United States and the governments of the several states stand ready to co-operate. They will do everything possible to assist farmers in securing an adequate supply of seed, an adequate force of laborers when they are most needed, at harvest time, and the means of expediting shipments of fertilizers and farm machinery as well as of the crops themselves when harvested. The course of trade shall be as unhampered as it is possible to make it, and there shall be no unwarranted manipulation of the nation's food supply by those who handle it on its way to the consumer. This is our opportunity to demonstrate the efficiency of a great democracy, and we shall not fall short of it.

FOR BETTER DAIRY SIRE.

Bankers Aid Wisconsin Farmers to Secure Pure Bred Bulls.

In some sections the problem of securing good sires is a serious one, says a Wisconsin farm bulletin. Often bull clubs are formed by the farmers themselves, who combine their purchasing power to get the services of good sires co-operatively. In other communities bankers, merchants and creamery owners furnish funds on long time notes, making very satisfactory arrangements for their payment at the end of a year or period. A system of leasing sires, whereby a part of the money received from each farmer for service fees is used to pay the cost of bulls, is in use in several Wisconsin communities.

The plans described here have all been worked out. They are practical. There are undoubtedly many other successful ones. If your community could be benefited by a similar plan start it yourself. Don't wait for the business men to make the first step. Live stock raising is the biggest business in Wisconsin. Many country bankers realize it, and they will meet you half way, for they see the importance of profit producing farm animals in the proper development of their communities.

Here are a few suggestions about buying:

First.—In buying a bull, get as good a one as you can afford. The sire, if a good pure bred, is more than half the herd.

Second.—If possible buy from a breeder whom you know.

Third.—Be sure you get stock from disease free herds.

Fourth.—Do not expect to buy good cows cheap. The poorest cows are those that are for sale in most herds.

Fifth.—Your best investment is to get heifers which have not freshened, but which have been bred to a registered sire of the same breed.

Sixth.—Buy as near home as possible. You save expenses, and if animals are not satisfactory your chances for redress are much better.

Time of Planting Corn.

May 4 to 17 has been the most profitable date during eleven years for planting corn at the Ohio experimental station at Wooster. Yields have been greater from corn planted in this period than from plantings made either earlier or later. The ears of the late planted corn have generally been small and immature.

CASH PRICES MEN'S, YOUNG MEN'S AND BOYS SUITS CASH PRICES

Why reduced prices on clothes when Woolens are on the rise? "The Story in a Nut Shell"

You've probably heard that woolen pieces are advancing, so you naturally ask--If that is so, how can these stylish, all-wool clothes be sold for less than regular prices? Each year at the end of the regular selling seasons we find a number of garments still on hand; they were bought to sell during that season, so we make it a point of selling them in order to make room for new goods, and we reduce prices to clean these suits in a hurry.

Because Woolens are advancing so rapidly these clothes are worth more now than they were a few months ago; they'll be worth more next year—but we can't hold them over. Following our iron-clad rule of not carrying goods from one season to another, we are going to close them out at the following cut prices:

$10.00 Mens Suits now $ 8.75
12.50 Mens Suits now 9.75
15.00 Mens Suits now 11.75
17.50 Mens Suits now 13.75

RED BLOOD AMERICANISM IS COMING TO THE FRONT

Right now this Country is calling for men of stout hearts and sound bodies. It needs them to keep Old Glory triumphant and unsullied in the air.

The exigency now confronting us emphasizes, as nothing else could do, the importance of good health, both as an individual and national asset.

It gives point to the suggestion, often emanating from this office, that everybody should guard their health as a priceless possession. When you find yourself running down and not exactly keyed up to the fighting pitch, as is the case with everybody at times, You ought to come to Nature's relief and take a course of

MANY TEACHERS NEEDED TO HELP ILLITERATE MEN

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart Calls For Volunteers to Instruct Soldiers

Frankfort, Ky., July 14.—A call for volunteers to teach the 30,000 illiterate men among those registered in Kentucky for military service was issued Friday by Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission. The moonlight schools to teach those who may become soldiers will commence July 23.

Mrs. Stewart, addressing the teachers of the State particularly, said in part:

"An unusual situation confronts those engaged in teaching in this State. It is one which will put to the test your patriotism and your devotion to education as well.

"Some 30,000 young men in Kentucky signed their registration cards on June 5 by mark, being unable to sign their names. These are not confined to any locality, but are scattered throughout every county in the State. They are not negroes, but mainly white.

"These figures must stagger every thoughtful Kentuckian. They would shame us to the point of concealment but for the need of these young men for immediate relief. Concealment works no cure. Only prompt and decisive action can do that. These young men are not to blame for their misfortune. The enlightened citizens of Kentucky, who have tolerated tax compulsory attendance laws and have submitted to the nonenforcement of such school attendance laws as are on our statute books, are mostly to blame. But this is not time to waste in crying shame or in fixing blame. This is a time to atone in such measure as we may.

"It is the duty of every public school teacher in Kentucky to volunteer. Some already have done so on the mere suggestion of such a call. Some, even who are not teachers have volunteered. It is a high privilege to render to these unfortunate ones and to our State, and nation this service.

We may have been unable to invest in Liberty Loan bonds. It may not be ours to follow the boys to France to minister to them under the Red Cross, but we can add to their comfort, their self-respect and their efficiency by giving them this training before they go.

"Let the lights burn for the soldier boys on the evening of July 23 in every rural village and city schoolhouse in the State. Write or wire that you will volunteer and let us provide you with books and plans."

Hopeless.

Economy may be practiced copiously, but up one ever seems to become expert in it.

POINTS ABOUT LEGUMES.

Inoculation of Soil Often Necessary to Get a Good Stand of Clover.
[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

One fundamental characteristic of a leguminous crop is the presence on the roots of nodules or tubercles which are infested by bacteria. These bacteria are essential both to the successful growth of the plant and to its value as a feed and as a green manure crop. They enter the plant from the soil, and it is obvious therefore that if the soil does not contain them in the first place the crop will prove a failure.

If a leguminous crop is grown for the first time in a field it is probable that nodules forming material of the right kind will not be present. They must be supplied therefore by artificial means. This process is called inoculating the soil.

One practical and effective method of inoculation is to transport soil from a field where it is known that the needed bacteria exists. Soil from fields of alfalfa, sweet clover and bur clover will inoculate a field for any of these three crops. Soil from red clover, crimson and white clover is also interchangeable.

RED CLOVER PLANT.

able, and this is true, too, of the vetches and field peas. Cowpeas and soy beans, however, each require their own particular brand of bacteria.

Soil intended for the purpose of inoculation should be free from obnoxious weeds. It should be taken from the first five or six inches of the surface and spread at the rate of 200 to 400 pounds per acre on the field to be inoculated. As the bacteria are killed by strong sunlight, the transported soil should be spread in cloudy weather, early morning or late afternoon, and harrowed soon after. Where inoculating soil is scarce it is possible to save in its use by the adoption of what is known as the glue method. A thin mixture of chipped glue and water is sprinkled over the seed at the rate of about a quart of the liquid to a bushel. Then a sufficient quantity of dry, inoculated soil is mixed with the seed to make it dry enough to sow well. In this way the seed is coated with inoculated soil and carries this soil with it when it is placed in the field.

Still another method is inoculation by means of liquid cultures. A limited supply of these may be secured free upon application to the United States department of agriculture. Many of the state experiment stations also supply these cultures. Commercial firms also sell them. Directions for the use of these cultures accompany all shipments.

JACK ADAMS

We are authorized to announce John S. Ham, a candidate for the nomination for Magistrate for district No. 3, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held August 4th 1917.

Foretold by many portents and all the tongues of rumor, the fall of the German Chancellor is at length announced.
Definite knowledge of the cause of his resignation is lacking. More or less enlightened guesswork is our only guide. We are morally certain that he was not forced out by a peace party because of his too insistent clamor for unrestricted war. Probability points quite the other way, says
The New York Times.

Twice in the last week the Emperor has summoned Hindenburg and Ludendorff to Berlin for conferences at which the Crown Prince was present. If Bethmann had been advising his Imperial master that peace now was the only way of escape from utter ruin for Germany, the Kaiser would naturally turn to his Generals for counsel. As to what Hindenburg and Ludendorff and that son of Mars, the Crown Prince, would say to him, we need have no doubt. His temperament and all his training would incline William II. to accept their assurances, their advice. And then the Chancellor would have no choice but to give up office.

With this theory the reports of urgent appeals from Vienna in Bethmann's behalf are in entire harmony, for it is plain that peace cannot come too soon for Austria's need, and the Vatican has evidently seconded her efforts to that end, as the attitude of the Catholic Centre Party in the Reichstag makes clear. But whatever the reason for the Chancellor's resignation, it tells us unmistakably that the Empire has come upon evil days within and without.

TO REFORM SCHOOL.

John Church the 15 year old son of Mr. Jim Church, who lives near Preachersville, was convicted in Judge Arnold's court last Monday morning for raising a check on H. G. Sutton, from $2.65 to $15.65. He denied that he raised the check, but the evidence was so strong against him that his guilt seemed conclusive. He will be sent to the school of reform.

TO SHORTEN K. M. TUNNEL.

A gentleman who holds a responsible position with the Q. & C., or rather that division of the Southern Railroad, informs the I. J. that King's Mountain tunnel is to be materially shortened by cutting off both ends and leaving deep cuts. After this has been done the tunnel will be widened sufficiently to lay another track in it. It will take a mint of money to do it, the gentlemen stated, but the management is determined to have a double track railroad from one end of it to another and no means will be spared in bringing about the desired end.—Interior Journal.

BOGIE WITHDRAWS

We are authorized to announce the withdrawal of Mr. J. O. Bogie from the race for the Democratic nomination for County Court Clerk.
This will come as a surprise and beside will be regretted by a number of friends of Mr. Bogie throughout the county. While he gave no reasons we presume that his duties as Road Supervisor in the western part of the state prevents him from making the active canvass he would like to have made, hence his withdrawal at this time. The withdrawal of Mr. Bogie leaves three in the race for this important office, Messrs Jephtha Onstott, Bruce Lawson and W. A. Doty.

CANNERY READY TO OPEN

The cannery to be operated under the supervision of Homer Tinsley will be opened in this city just as soon as a room suitable for the plant can be arranged. Mr. Tinsley tells us that he can and will can everything from a tomato to a dog's tail and that it behooves the people of the county to co-operate with him and the county agent to see that nothing in the eating line perishes for lack of canning. All these things will be high next winter and in great demand.
Due notice will be given the public just as soon as the outfit has been installed. Seven thousand cans have been ordered and are expected in this week.

ANTI-HOG CHOLERA.

The anti-hog cholera meetings held under the auspices of our county agent Mr. W. H.
Rogers throughout the county during the past week has been attracting unusual audiences at each meeting and the people are becoming very much enthused over the prospect of entirely eliminating that dreaded malady from the swine herds of the county. In fact Mr. Rogers informs us that even now the disease is practically checked and with the co-operation of the swine breeders, in a few years that hog cholera will be a thing of the past. Meetings were held during the past week at Point Leavell, Nina, Beazley's school house and at Union. Dr. O. S. Crisler, Extension Veterinarian, of Lexington, and Dr. Hannewald, of the U. S. Dep't of Agriculture, have been assisting Mr. Rogers and each have made talks at these meetings, illustrated with stereopticon slides. Other meetings will be held from time to time and anyone interested in the elimination of hog cholera, will do well to consult Mr. Rogers and a meeting may be arranged in any locality that the people may desire.

RAMSEY

Last Thursday about twelve o'clock, Dr. Burdett Ramsey, one of the oldest and most respected citizens in the county passed away at his home near Paint Lick, due probably to the infirmities of age, being 93 years old. While not feeling well for some time, yet his death came as a surprise to his family, who fortunately were at his bedside. He is survived by his wife, who is now passed her 80th year, and the following children:

Mrs. John Bright, of Stanford, Mrs. Will Frank,
of Louisville, Mrs. J. P. Frank, of Danville, Miss Mattie Ramsey of Danville, Mrs. J. M. Holloway, of Chattanooga, Terrill Ramsey of Charlottesville, Va., and Burdett Ramsey Jr. of Paint Lick, at whose home his father died. For many years Dr.
Ramsey was one of the most successful practitioners and farmers in the county, owning one of the best farms in that section. Since his youth he was a devout member of the Presbyterian church, serving continuously as an elder or deacon for the past twenty-five years. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Eldridge last Saturday morning after which interment took place at the cemetery near the Old Paint Lick church.

SLOAN.

The death in the Danville hospital of Miss Alberta Sloan, the 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sloan, last Saturday morning was heard with much regret by the friends of the family in this city and county.

Taken violently ill from the start with typhoid fever it was feared that she might not survive and was taken to the Danville hospital where the end came after a short illness. The deceased was a devout member of the Methodist church at Hubble where she was raised and the funeral service was held at the home near Hubble last Sunday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Hoffman. The floral designs were many and beautiful. Interment took place in the Buffalo cemetery at Stanford.

CANTONMENT

At Louisville A Big Undertaking.

To give some idea of the tremendousness of the undertaking in building the cantonment at Louisville may be gained from the following table showing the amounts of the principal materials to be used. Twenty-six million feet Southern yellow pine lumber. This is equivalent to 1,300 box cars loaded from floor to ceiling (capacity)—about 20,000 feet to the car—and would make up nearly thirty-one solid trainloads of forty-two cars to the train. Twenty-eight thousand squares of prepared roofing, requiring sixty-two cars for transportation.
Twenty carloads hardware and nails. Sixty-five carloads plumbing, sixty-five carloads water and sewer pipes. Ten carloads electric light wires, insulators, poles, etc. One hundred and ninety-two carloads of tanks, stoves, ranges, refrigerators and like material.

One hundred and eighty-seven carloads of mattresses, bunks, etc. One thousand two hundred and thirty carloads crushed stone, cement, etc., sufficient to construct fifteen miles of streets and roads in and adjacent to camp. Twenty carloads of construction tools.

NEW AMERICAN

IMPLEMENT OF WAR

To Be Made Under The Greatest Secrecy

A special to the New York World says the Westinghouse interests in Pittsburgh, Pa., are seeking 1,000 men who are willing to sign an agreement to enter a new plant to be built for the manufacture of war munitions by a secret process and remain imprisoned for ten months, all communication with the outside world to be shut off.

Men who have been approached were told that the plant will manufacture a powerful implement of war and the secret must be guarded until the government sees fit to make the details public. Only those workmen and officials who will be engaged in the production of the new weapon will know its character and the details of manufacture.

Recreation and entertainment of every possible sort will be furnished the isolated employees. Pay double that they now get is guaranteed, and bonuses will be paid for high production. Only picked men whose Americanism is unquestioned and whose skill in their respective vocations is of the highest will be employed.

Officials of the Westinghouse interests today refused to talk. An artisan of high standing, who was approached by the Westinghouse agents, said he had received an intimation that the new plant would turn out, in large quantities one of the late inventions of Thomas E. Edison.

NATIONAL FETE IS OBSERVED BY FRENCH NATION

France, last Saturday, celebrated its national fete, with fervor and quiet joy unknown in many years. The Russian revolution has made Frenchmen realize more vividly the meaning of the great epoch which, dawning in America in 1776, culminated in France in 1789 in a great revolution whose spirit after over a century is about to have its full fruition in the destruction of the last bastille of absolutism by the forces of allied democracy.

"It is a pity," says Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber of Deputies, in a message to the Journal, "that the Germans cannot see our national fete, they who believe us to be starving and at the end of our resources."

"In the month of April, notwithstanding magnificent results we did not realize our hopes. Since then a noble leader who has had nothing but success in this war, a great infantryman, a wise, upright and clear mind has been put at the head of our armies. Already the Russians are fulfilling their pledges and here are the Americans bringing us their powerful support, not only in money, airplanes and ships, but in men and guns."

"America's intervention while a decisive verdict on the justice of our cause is a sure guarantee of victory. It makes it more than ever our duty to hold on."

PRACTICAL CANNING

DEMONSTRATION.

Miss Mollie Worthington will give a practical demonstration of canning at Hazelden Brothers hardware store next Tuesday afternoon, July 24th.

Miss Worthington is an expert in this line and should prove a blessing to the many housekeepers of the county who should attend this demonstration.

TRENCHES SAFER

THAN MARRIED LIFE

The first of the slackers marriages in Chicago to make public appearance on the domestic junk pile was recorded at a hospital when Conrad Jeffers, twenty nine years of age, was brought in with his skull fractured by hammer blows and his throat cut.

"He married me two months ago to escape the draft," explained Mrs. Jeffers. "I found out that he was a slacker and we quarreled all the time. We had hours of it last night, and finally when he was asleep I got a hammer and a razor and went after him." Jeffers is in a critical condition.

SOME CHECK

FOR A FEW HOGS

Mr. John Cress, of Preachersville, showed us a check for $5,507.00 which he had just received for 197 hogs which he had raised and fattened on his own farm. He also tells us that he has now on hand 125 younger hogs that will go on the market in the early fall. By the way, Mr. Cress is a candidate for the democratic nomination for Magistrate in the Crab Orchard district, and if the knowing ones are wise they will see that he gets it, hands down. He says that while the district is usually Republican, it gives him no alarm, as trimming his Republican opponent, will be as easy as pouring water out of a boot. Here's hoping he will win in both contests.

FORMER LANCAS-

TER BOY DIES.

A clipping from a Hamilton, O., paper says that James Cunningham, formerly of Lancaster Ky., where he was born and raised, died in the Mercy Hospital in that city on June 27, and that his remains are still unclaimed, as no trace of any relatives can be found anywhere. His mother died in Lexington several years ago and Jim was the only child.

He was related, the paper states, to J. Hunt McMurry, of Nicholasville, Ky. His remains will be buried in a Potter's field in that city, should no relatives claim them. Jim will be remembered here as a bright boy and accepted a position as expert accountant with Ernst and Ernst of Cincinnati. He also held similar positions in Louisville.

NEW TEACHER FOR

BUCKEYE SCHOOL

The Buckeye people are very fortunate in securing Prof. J. E. Bothe of Richmond, Ky., as principal of the High School. He will take charge Monday July 23rd.

Mr. Bothe took his high school work in the Model School at Richmond after which he entered the Normal School, graduating in '13.

He has had five years of successful teaching experience in the Kentucky schools. While his deeper interest lies in the scholastic work, he is also interested in the betterment of community life. He has always taken an active part in church and Sunday School work and other organizations for young people.

The High School students will appreciate also his ability to organize and promote athletics and other play-ground activities.

Mr. Bothe has been in Buckeye for the past few days and the indications are that Buckeye will open with a big class; and the patrons have already shown that they are ready to give a hearty response and class co-operation to their principal.

ILLUSTRATED FEATURES

Will Appear Shortly In This Paper.

We have recently contracted for an illustrated news service and will soon install a Prestoplate machine in our office, from which we will make stereotypes of the latest pictures furnished by Underwood and Underwood, the worlds widest known photographers. For a long time we have wanted to produce current news pictures in the Record, such as dailies furnish their readers, but were prevented on account of not having a machine capable of handling this class of matter. It gives us pleasure to announce that this machine will be installed in a few weeks. We feel that the people in this community will back us up in this progressive move and help to keep this paper up to its present standard of efficiency.

Don't Buy a Wagon Until You Have Seen the Columbus

Before you decide on any wagon, examine the Columbus. Strongly built of the best possible material the Columbus wagon gives the most satisfactory service for the longest period of years. There is no secret in the notably long life of the Columbus wagon. It is the result of the methods employed in construction. There is no wood in this wagon which has not been air-dried under shelter from one to two years.

The axles and the spokes of the wheels are hickory; the boards, bolsters and sandboards are oak, and the bottom of the box is straight grained flawless pine. These are just a few examples of the care which is taken to make this wagon as reliable as possible. The result is that the Columbus wagon is unbeatable in reliability and endurance. Come in and examine it for yourself. We know you will be pleased.

WEDDING FESTIVITIES FOR POPULAR BRIDE.

Lancaster has been quite gay the past week on account of the popularity of the young bride-elect, Miss Edna Kavanaugh. The first of the pre-nuptial entertainments was a luncheon given at the home of the bride, when the most intimate friends and relatives were asked to meet the "young southerner", Mr. Herbert Ellis, who had come to claim the heart and hand of one of Lancaster's fairest girls. This delightful six course luncheon was a pleasing fore-runner of what was to follow. Mrs. George Robinson next entertained at a six o'clock dinner, the menu was both elaborate and delightful, the color scheme, white and green, was carried out in house and table decorations and menu.

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Richard Buckner Spindle, entertained in honor of Miss Kavanaugh at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. E. McRoberts, at a well appointed afternoon reception. Numerous friends called during the hours to shower best wishes and congratulations upon the happy bride-elect. Delightful refreshments of brick cream and sherbert, individual ices, mints and frappe were served the guests.

Monday evening Miss Tommie Frances entertained informally the intimate friends and relatives to meet the bride and groom-elect.

On Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. William Burton were hosts at an elegant wedding breakfast. The table was beautiful in all its appointments. The centerpiece consisted of a French basket filled with pink and lavender sweet peas, the handle being tied with a large bow of pink and lavender tulle. The menu was delightful and faultless. The individual heart-shaped ices of lavender and pink, the cakes and mints all brought out the pretty color scheme. The fourteen who were seated at the festive board were: Miss Edna Kavanaugh, Mr. Herbert Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. William Burton, Miss Martha Kavanaugh, Mr. John Gill Kinnaird, Miss Annie Margaret Elkin, Mr. Shirley Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Green Clay Walker, Mrs. Geo. Robinson, Mr. J. Y. Robinson, Mrs. R. B. Spindle, Mr. Alex Doty, Mr. Joe Price, Mr. William Kavanaugh.

After the wedding breakfast most of the guests left by motor cars with the happy couple for Lexington, where they were married at 5 o'clock in the parlors of the Phoenix Hotel. After congratulations and best wishes by those who had accompanied them they boarded an eastern bound train for Washington D. C. and other points east. The departure of no one who has ever left Lancaster is more regretted than that of Miss Edna. Always bright and vivacious, and possessing the womanly charms to make and hold friends made her deservedly popular.

Mr. Ellis is the junior member of the firm of The Wilson Live Stock Co. of Wilson N. C. He is a young man of sterling qualities and in every way well worthy of the bride of his choice.

The following announcement has been received by friends:

"Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Woods Kavanaugh, announce the marriage of their daughter Edna to Mr. William Herbert Ellis Tuesday, the seventeenth day of July, Nineteen hundred and seventeen, Lancaster, Kentucky.

At Home after August 1st, Wilson North Carolina."

MUST FILE EX-PENSE ACCOUNT.

This year candidates for county, city and legislative offices will have to file their expense accounts both before and after the date of the primary election, under the provisions of the new law. It is provided that all such candidates for a party nomination must file sworn statements of their expenditures fifteen days before and thirty days after the date of the primary, making it imperative that the filing of the first statement be attended to before July 20th. The law is a new one and this is the first chance for a try-out. According to its terms, any successful candidate failing to file loses his nomination, the candidate receiving the next highest vote and complying with the provisions being declared the nominee. The same applies to the case of a candidate exceeding the amount of money he can spend, that is allotted as a maximum to his office.

TOWN PROPERTY AT PUBLIC SALE.

Being compelled to be away from home on business and having only two in family, for their convenience, I have concluded to move to my smaller place nearer town, thereby deciding to sell my Suburban Home "GLEN GABLES" where I now live on Lexington street in the city of Lancaster, Ky. I will offer for sale, on the premises, to the highest bidder at 3 o'clock P. M. the said property containing about eight acres of rich land, all in grass except garden and orchard. Five hundred feet of this property is fronting on Lexington street and is capable of subdivision in building lots, fronting east. This part of town is building up rapidly, four new houses having been erected during the past year beyond this property and two more new ones are under construction.

Saturday, July 28th, 1917

The house on this property, with large shady lawn in front, away from dust and noise, is 2 1/2 story's high and contains 11 rooms, hall two porches, and cellar and is considered one of the best built and arranged storm sheeted frame houses in Garrard county. It is easily heated, being warm in winter and cool in summer.

On this property is a servant house in back yard; a good stable with box stalls and wagon shed attached; a never failing bearing apple orchard and spring house. It is one of the best watered places for its size in the state. It has two cisterns, one at house and one large one at stable and a good pond in corner of pasture, fed by a spring that has never been known to go dry, and beside all this, which is unnecessary, I have city water for bath room and kitchen.

This property is only a short distance and on the same side of the street as the Lancaster-Graded school and is excellently located for small children going to and from school.

THIS PLACE WAS FORMERLY KNOWN AS THE WALDEN PLACE.

Property of this character is seldom ever offered at public sale and now is the opportunity of a life time for some one who wishes to invest in one of the most delightful homes in Lancaster.

I will offer same in two or more tracts and then as a whole and will accept bid or bids that bring the most money. There will be no by-bidding. Possession given December 1st, 1917. Terms made known on day of sale. I will be glad to show this property to any person before day of sale. Phone No 1.

RID SHEEP OF WORMS.

Method of Eradication Advised by Ohio Experiment Station.

Sheepmen having docks infested with stomach worms and tapeworms may free the animals of such pests by treatment before turning out to spring pasture. For this purpose a drench of copper sulphate has been found most satisfactory in the flocks at the Ohio experiment station.

Two fluid ounces of a solution made by dissolving an ounce of copper sulphate (blue vitriol) in two quarts of water is sufficient for a yearling, and a two-year-old sheep needs three fluid ounces. A long necked bottle or a rubber tube and funnel may be used to give the dose. Most effective results follow when the sheep are fasted for a day both before and after treatment. Water should not be given for a few hours preceding and following the dosing.

Digestive disturbances, poor appetite, loss of flesh and general weakness indicate the presence of worms. Lambs are most seriously affected, the experts say. Ridding the sheep of worms in the spring will result in fewer losses in the lamb crop.

CORN GROWING UNDER IRRIGATION METHODS

(Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.)

The greatest natural limitation to corn growing under irrigation in many semiarid sections are short growing seasons and extreme differences between day and night temperatures. These effects may be partially overcome by growing early maturing and adapted varieties, but it is not to be expected that as large yields can be secured as are possible in sections where the seasons are long and temperatures more uniform.

Many failures, however, are due to preventable causes. The most common mistakes are overirrigation, too frequent irrigations, too early irrigation and too little cultivation. The farmer who has been accustomed to regard a shortage of moisture as the chief cause of crop failure too often concludes that irrigation will cure all ills and insure large yields.

Corn cut away to show a baked and cracked soil. This land should have been cultivated after irrigation as soon as the ground could be worked.

When the surface soil is kept wet the temperatures are lowered by rapid evaporation, and the result is slower growth and delayed maturity. If cultivation be delayed until the surface soil begins to bake and crack, roots are exposed and cultivation may then be very injurious.

Small corn plants do not require a large moisture supply. Early irrigations stimulate an excessive growth of stalk. The large, sappy stalks usually do not produce as much grain as those normally developed and are less likely to reach maturity before fall frosts occur.

On land that is well cultivated and kept free from weeds it is usually unnecessary to irrigate corn until about the time the tassels and silks begin to appear. A good supply of water is needed at this time, and irrigations are of much benefit to the plants in producing and developing ears. These irrigations should be thorough and followed as soon as possible by cultivation.

Irrigating in furrows or shallow ditches between the corn rows is better than flooding the whole surface and allowing the water to come in contact with the corn stalks.

The number of irrigations necessary depends upon the type of soil and the amount of moisture supplied by rain. On average loam soils two or three irrigations are usually sufficient. Late irrigations delay maturity.

Exercises For Ewes.

The more exercise the ewe gets the healthier and stronger the lambs are likely to be. The ewes will also deliver their lambs more easily. Some men advocate huddling the roughage for the ewes to the field and spreading it about in small bunches. The ewes will then obtain exercise by running about from place to place. On wet, rainy or stormy days they should be left in the barn, but whenever the weather is at all favorable the ewes should be out of doors for exercise. One should not allow the fleeces of the sheep to get soaking wet in the winter time.

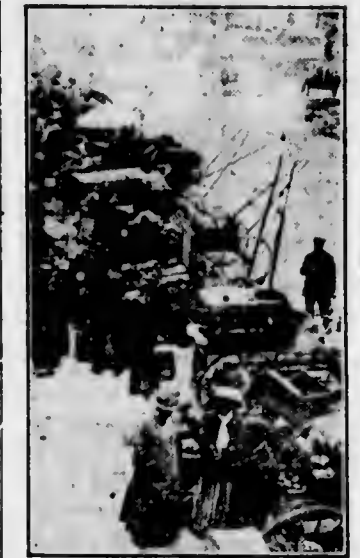

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Success in farming depends on selling ability to a greater extent than ever before.

In earlier days there was a lack of selling opportunity, but times have changed for the better. The parcel post, adequate railroad service and the rapid growth of towns give farmers their chance. With prices on their present high level it does not require a large farm to return a living income and something more.

Good selling simply means obtaining the greater part of the money paid by consumers. It is only fair that farmers, who invest in the land, take all the risk and perform most of the labor.

FARMERS SELLING DIRECT TO CONSUMERS.

should receive the major part of the money involved. The closer they get to the consumers the more certain they are to secure their proper proportion of the cash paid for commodities.

In nearly all farming communities are a few men who stand out prominently by reason of their success in marketing their products. Others of equal industry and skill in producing crops fall far behind in the matter of money compensation. Dealing with private customers and obtaining retail prices or co-operation with a sufficient number of neighbors so that both shipping and selling may be properly managed will lift many farmers out of the rut.

For myself, I have made a success of direct selling to private families. In this way I dispose of the output of a dairy of twelve cows, besides poultry products and some fruit, vegetables, hogs and flowers. These supplies go readily at full retail prices in a town two miles from the farm. I have a few customers in one of the larger cities who are served by parcel post or express. I know from the inquiries received that I could just as easily sell ten times as much produce. Many farmers do not make this effort.

As showing the demand for fresh country produce, I am acquainted with two women in different localities who buy up eggs, poultry, butter, fruit, etc., and deliver direct to city families, each using a horse and wagon for the purpose. One of these women went into the country upon a farm when her husband's health gave out and probably had the wisdom to see that as a "back to the lander" she did not have the strength or the weight to pound a living out of the soil. There are different ways, however, of making a living, and this small and retired woman saw an opportunity to benefit both farmers and consumers by doing a produce business. She drives about through the country picking up poultry products and light high grade material and then takes them to town, where she sells out to good advantage.

The farmers are all pleased to deal with her. She seems to be popular all along the way. Before she left town she was a stenographer, and her pointing the keys of her machine has evidently taught her how to touch the keys of human nature so as to produce a good impression. This woman is doing well at her business, and she has certainly set us all an example of how to develop a good trade in a new way and in a new section. There is more money to be made in the future by learning how to reach the consumer direct than there ever will be in producing larger crops.

In several other cases I know of farmers who have developed businesses of this kind from coming in contact with a growing list of consumers who required more stuff than one place could produce. Everything points to the fact that American farmers are face to face with a great opportunity for advancement. Business principles should be introduced into farming for economic efficiency, with results beneficial both to producer and consumer. Farmers in particular communities should develop staple products, standardize them and study what market to reach at a given time and the best method of shipping.

Durable Concrete Tile.

Concrete tile, if properly made, are very durable. Causes of failure may be traced to the use of too lean or too dry a mixture, improper hardening and placing in the ground too soon after making. The tile need at least three or four weeks' curing and hardening before it is safe to lay them.

"The Five Tires"

Lower Tire Cost Than Ever—NOW

For, in the old days, tires not only cost motorists more per tire, but were also so far inferior to the present product, that the final cost—the cost per mile—was from 50 to 100 or more per cent. higher than you pay now.

United States Tires—the 'Royal Cord', the 'Nobby', the 'Chain', the 'Usco' and the 'Plain'.

- one for every need of price and use,
- produced by the largest rubber manufacturer in the world,
- produced by the most experienced tire manufacturer in the world,
- produced by a time-tested, exclusive, patented, vulcanizing process,
- produced of only the most carefully selected materials,
- have so far eclipsed every other make of tire that
- United States Tires are famous for their mileage-giving qualities—their low cost per mile.

The proof?—the consistent and persistent tremendous sales increases of United States Tires.

Limberneck of Fowls.

This disease is indicated by a partial loss of control of the muscles of the neck, a form of paralysis resulting from intestinal poisons, generally due to eating putrid animal matter or musty grain. A fowl cannot hold its head upright, but twists it around from side to side and staggers about drunkenly. The disease is not contagious, though very often it is stubborn to cure. Determine cause of condition and treat accordingly. Give the bird a purgative, epsom salts or castor oil.

POULTRY AND EGGS

DUCKS IN HOT WEATHER.

Young Quacks Thrive During Months of July and August.

Late chickens are usually stunted by hot weather. But have the farm women tried raising summer ducks? Strange as it may seem, ducklings thrive best in hot weather, and it is during July and August that I hatched my large flocks of Buff ducks, wrote an Oklahoma woman in the Kansas Farmer.

Ducklings are early and late foragers. It is no uncommon sight to see an old duck groping blindly around in the dark and trying to follow her duck foragers. When the sun shines hot and water is available they enjoy best of all to dive into its cool depths after crawfish, frogs and water insects.

Muscovy ducks are in great favor in Europe and are highly recommended for the table. They are the largest of all ducks, the standard weight of the drake being ten pounds and of the duck eight pounds. The duck pictured is a Muscovy.

Some people may wonder where I get the eggs to hatch. This is very simple, as I raise the Buff ducks, which are all year layers, and I always have the best success hatching the eggs. I have heard women complain that their ducklings are too much. Upon being questioned they admit that they fed them at least half a dozen times a day and the ducklings just hung around the house waiting for more feed. Such management, indeed, would be profitless, but young ducks, like people, can be trained to be lazy or industrious. They are smart creatures and soon learn when to expect their meals. I always feed them early in the morning and late at night when the chickens are on the roost.

During the day they are always off foraging among weeds and grass or in the water. Quite often they find so much that I feed them only enough to let them know they have not been forgotten. They certainly convert waste into meat. I know of nothing that grows to maturity more quickly than ducklings. I feed them all the tough lettuce leaves from the garden, as this is one thing that cannot be dried or canned, and young ducks like nothing better.

In the fall I find that my ducklings have grown to be ducks weighing from six to eight pounds each. It is needless to tell of the good prices I get for them on the market, of the feathers, fancy stock and eggs I sell, of the neat sum of money I have realized, which is nearly all clear profit.

GRAINS FOR POULTRY.

Value of the Various Cereals as Meat and Egg Producers.

There is more nutriment in white oats or white middlings than there is in the brown kinds. Damaged wheat or screenings full of cockle are dangerous foods, says the Farm Journal. Oatmeal if fed too freely will cause a looseness of the bowels. Millet seed contains considerable flesh forming material. There is more bone and muscle food in barley than there is in wheat, but the fowls seem to prefer the latter. Bran is laxative and should be in the daily bill of fare for both old and young.

There is not the fattening property in white corn that there is in yellow. Wheat is the most complete grain, but must never be fed alone. Oats are a muscle food, while wheat makes feathers. Rye is a poor poultry food and not relished by fowls. Rotted rye will produce bowel disturbances. Rye corn seed is relished by fowls. The composition of corn is largely starch.

Wheat, oats, bran and middlings are egg foods. Corn furnishes heat and fat. It has been computed that in a hundred pounds of oats there are fifty pounds of flesh forming material, six pounds of fat, forty-seven pounds of starch, two pounds of bone forming food and twenty pounds of husk or fiber.

Barley is a grain hard to digest and should be fed only occasionally.

Limberneck of Fowls. POULTRY PICKINGS.

Don't sell all the strong, sturdy birds. The farmer must have that kind to pay him a good profit. If we want chickens with life enough to chase a grasshopper we must avoid inbreeding. The chicken started in growth never becomes what it might have been had the development been continuous. A too heavy diet of grain is apt to produce vertigo in geese. Turkeys are extensively grown in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. The latter state, it is estimated, produces the greatest number.

FEEDING THE HENS.

The idea of feeding garbage to a flock of chickens may intrude on the sensibilities of some, says H. A. Roberts in the Philadelphia Ledger. The idea, however, is more apparent than real. We prefer to use the term "table scraps" anyhow since there is a difference between the two. Celery tops and the tops of beets and other vegetables, the outer leaves of lettuce, vegetable parings, stale bread, ends of meat, left overs of cereals, sour milk and miscellaneuous table scraps are none the less edible because they are stale; they have lost none of their value as food.

Properly fed—and by that we mean fed in a sweet, wholesome condition—there is no better feed in the world for poultry than table scraps. The fact that they are a mixture of odds and ends gives them their chief virtue, which is a balanced diet. Fowls fed on table scraps invariably do better than those given a single grain diet, and the reasons are perfectly obvious. No one article of food will maintain health and vigor. The fowl's system, like the human taste, requires variety.

The illustration shows a good fattening chicken and a cull. To the left, a good type of chicken for fattening for a broiler, to the right is a poor type.

If there is not variety the appetite becomes jaded. Finally this means impaired health, a falling off in production and failure.

If you would have proof that chickens really relish table scraps offer them a plate of carefully assorted tidbits from the kitchen along with the customary grain ration and note which they devour first. If they do not fight and scramble for the table scraps to the exclusion of the grain it will be the first case of its kind that has come to the attention of the writer.

The best way to feed table scraps is to run them through a grinder. In this way many articles are utilized which would otherwise be wasted. For example, the tail end of a steak, which consists largely of fat and gristle, cannot be swallowed by the fowls at one operation. If left to their own devices the fowls will peck at it for hours and drag and fuss it around the house or yard until it becomes filthily dirty, which is not exactly wholesome. If this piece of steak is run through the grinder and reduced to edible lengths it is speedily eaten before it has a chance to become soiled or spoiled. The same idea holds true of many other articles. Eggshells may be fed to fowls if they are reduced to a ground condition, whereas it would be unwise to feed them in the form of shells for fear of starting the habit of egg eating.

Crop Bound Fowls.

A hard and swollen condition of the crop is caused by an obstruction to the outlet from the crop or by gorging large quantities of grain, which swells and ferments. The fowl is droopy; it has a purplish color, and a sour smelling liquid runs from its mouth. Give castor oil or a large dose of olive oil; knead the crop with the fingers until it becomes soft under the effects of the oil and then hold the bird with its head downward and try to empty the contents of the crop.

Provide Shade For Chickens.

Do not neglect shade in the chicken yard during the hot, sunny days of summer. It is an act of simple humanity, but is also a source of net gain, since the flock thrives much better if it is so protected, and do not neglect to give fresh, cool water frequently.
